Presidential Popularity

The wide separation between President Eisenhower's popularity and the status of his party that is being harped on by Democrats trying to put defeat in the presidential election in a good light is not peculiar to one chief executive or to one party.

Franklin D. Roosevelt was an uniquely popuar president. So was Herbert Hoover, before the worldwide economic collapse and his inability to hold it at bay caused voters to turn against his administration.

Both Mr. Hoover and Mr. Roosevelt were vastly more popular than the parties they represented. Yet in neither case was this held to be an oddity of politics.

Theodore Roosevelt was more popular than his party. George Washington exerted his influence as an individual, not as the spokesman for the Federalists. So did Abraham Lincoln, who made over the Republican party in his image. Woodrow Wilson's popularity did not make it possible for him to dictate policy either to Democrats or Republians. Yet it cannot be denied that he had a tremendous impact on Democratic principles.

Popular presidents are tangible party assets who exert the influence of their popularity directly in two ways - by winning elections and by shaping the internal policies of their parties.

Mr. Eisenhower has promised to use his fresly-affirmed popularity to influence his party as well as the United States. Those who scoff at this and prefer to think he has won a personal popularity contest, instead of a national election, are shrugging off the lessons history has taught about the two-party system.

It relies chiefly on the personalities of its leaders to give it form and vitality. Parties make giant strides forward when they have popular leaders and lose ground when they have unpopular leaders.

Republicans have a popular leader. Demorats do not have a popular leader. They know now what the Republicans were up against from 1932 to 1952.

One Point Of Agreement

Even among those who insist the United Nations should be scuttled because it has been ess perfect than the dream that brought it into existence, there is one point of agreement. The United Nations has provided a common ground for discussion and agreement as well as for quarreling and disagreement.

In all instances, it is a ready-made place for diplomats to exchange points of view and thereby to develop "international opinion."

Dag Hammarskjold, the U.N. secretarygeneral, commands the confidence of all governments participating in the U.N. He has been invaluable as an intermediary when differences arise.

For the first time in 20th century history, it is the full-time duty of one highly-skilled man to use the resources of a worldwide organization to avert war, using the art of

One man would be no match for the many who work full time to incite war, but with the support of all who have renounced war Dag Hammarskjold has become one of the most important figures on the world stage.

Peace is the harder of the alternatives of war or peace. It takes more patience, more imagination, more resourcefulness and more perspective. It should. Its rewards are greater. If war can be averted in the criss-crossed hatreds, jealousies, greeds and ambitions that have grown inflamed in the Middle East, much of the credit will belong to the United Nations and its secretary general, whose job is to keep war from happening.

The coat-tail theory of politics has been tested again, with the same result. There is nothing to it. Yet it is as hard to get rid of as the superstition that woolly worms forecast the weather.

President Eisenhower's coat-tails did not carry Republican candidates for the House and Senate into office. They got there, when they utran their opponents, on their own feet.

The spectacular popularity of Gov. Williams n Michigan was not enough to hold the state for Adlai Stevenson. Jacob Javits won the Sente seat in New York despite the supposed handicap of being identified by association with he Eisenhower administration's policy against aggressions by Israel—a coat-tail in reverse.

Gov. Lausche in Ohio put handle grips on his tails in the effort to help Mr. Stevenson and Michael V. DiSalle. But the governor's unprecedented help for fellow candidates of his wn party could not help them.

There is a new style in coats.

Tails went out of fashion with straight-ticket roting and the tail-coats politicians used to wear n an almost era when the prestige of the name it the top of the ticket would dangle all the vay down to dogcatcher. It's time to discard the coat-tail theory.

So divided government - irresponsible government - continues. The partisan fight continues, too.

THE DEMOCRATS in the main will not cooperate with the President to pass any measures except those demanded by a nationwide public opinion. This means that, on many important but less understood issues, the Democrats will block any legislation that can help the Republicans - just as has been the case the last two years. The campaign between the parties, therefore, goes on, and a responsible system of government a parliamentary system that is more suitable to America in an atomic age than the present horseand-buggy model - is still far from being considered.

One of these days an international crisis will reveal the shocking need of a Congress and presidency in a single party responsible together to the people and removable only in elections held when the people want them held.

W/HEN anyone sits down W to a meal of kippers, he is not only eating the fish, but also sharing in a hardy tradition carried on by fishermen from such spots as Port Maitland, in Nova Scotia. In the smoke houses there, some ten thousand pounds of fresh herring and pollack are being changed into the kippers that appear on breakfast tables in the U. S. and Canada. In the darkness, the boats move offshore to tend the gill nets in the cold Atlantic. They return hours later with anywhere up to fifty bales of fish which are left at the Thomas Bros. factory. After the fish have been cleaned and brined, they are set out on huge racks to dry The meat is smoked over gasoline fires from 10 to 12 hours before packaging. Nor are the waste products ignored. Rap 'Politics' In Spectacle

Swiss Are Latest To Quit Games

By WILL GRIMSLEY

MELBOURNE, Australia (A) -Officials of the Olympic Games said today they are "stunned" and "bitterly disappointed" that politics are creeping in to spoil the great sports spectacle.

Commenting on recurring withdrawals from the games, the latest being Switzerland, W. S. Kent-Hughes, chairman of the organizing committee, said:

"Politics are a matter for the government. Sports should be something apart and should set an example for friendliness among nations.

"These Olympics should set a shining light for warring nations and show that men can compete! on the fields in friendly rivalry. You cannot get over an idea by punching a man in the jaw." The executive officer of the games, Lt. Gen. Sir William Bridgeford, said he is sorry to see countries, especially small countries, "swayed from the great Olympic ideal by politics."

Adios Harry To Be Retired This Year

YONKERS, N.Y. (A) - Adios Harry may race a time or two again this year, but the world champion will be sent to the farm shortly and retire for the season as the greatest one year money winning pacer.

J. Howard Lyons, Greenwood, Del, farmer, announced plans for the 5-year-old son of Adios-Helen Win after Adios Harry whipped seven of the world's fastest pacers Thursday night in the $75,000 Eastern Championship at Yonkers Raceway.

Luther Lyons, son of the owner, drove Adios Harry to a hard earned, 34 length victory over the west coast threat, Diamond Hal, owned by Sol Camp of Shafter, Calif. Third, another 34 of a length away, was Bachelor Hanover, a top 3-year-old sidewheeler owned by Hazel Rubin, Balston Spa, N.Y. The victory, with Adios Harry leading most of the way on a track termed "good" after all day showers, was worth $37,500 to the vinner and shot his 1956 earnings to $128,162. This cracked the record of $110,299 set in 1952 by Good Time, beloved little pacer owned by the late Bill Cane.
